Maine UU legislators prioritize environmental, social justice

Maine UU State Action Network (MUUSAN) on Jan. 21 presented six UU Senators and Representatives. They gave an overview of their priorities all of which directly relate to environmental and social justice. It was inspiring to hear them.

There is now an opportunity to have a UU spokesperson for Our Power, the group trying to change from CMP to a consumer owned utility, to come to First Parish and outline the environmental and social justice issues addressed by this change. I will find an appropriate Sunday for an after-service conversation.

Tips and Tools is an amazing resource for anyone wanting to make a difference in the legislative agenda in Maine. It is available at MUUSAN.org and worth exploring even if you aren't planning to do anything right now.

Maine Public Radio airs MLK coverage

Our Martin Luther King Holiday celebration was a great success this year, attracting well over 100 people on Monday and highlighted on Maine Public Radio.

Maine Public Coverage by Patty Wight

Portland attorney Krystal Williams was the featured speaker at an event honoring Martin Luther King, Jr at the First Parish Unitarian Universalist Church in Kennebunk on Monday morning.

After reading portions of King's 1963 letter from a Birmingham jail in which he advocated for nonviolent action to fight for civil rights, Williams said King's words still ring true today.

"If we want to change the outcome of American history, we have to change our daily actions. Will it take a little more effort? Yes, yes it will. But if you don't make the effort now, when will you?" Williams said.

Williams is the founder of the Alpha Legal Foundation, a nonprofit that works to diversify the legal profession. She's also the founder and managing attorney of the legal and business advisory firm Providentia Group, which seeks to create economic equity through entrepreneurship.

Williams told attendees of the Monday event that the Civil Rights Act ushered in important changes, but racism today is much more subtle and it maintains a race-based economic caste system.

"Now, almost 60 years later, black Americans remain economically disenfranchised with disproportionately negative outcomes across all social determinants of health," Williams said. She urged the crowd to continue to focus on racial equity beyond the national holiday.

"Please know, this is the easy part," she said. "The work is not showing up today. The work is what you do away from the speeches, away from the workshops, away from the days of commemoration. The work happens when you choose what nonprofit to support, or what restaurant to go to, or where you purchase certain services, or even what movie ticket you buy."

Emails to us from keynote speaker Krystal Williams

I am so glad that the feedback was positive. It truly was an honor and privilege to spend the morning honoring Dr. King's work with you. I had no idea that Maine Public was covering the event (a good thing!). I am so glad that the message was amplified!

All my best, Krystal

Gilgamesh discovers the meaning of life

Last Sunday, our worship service focused on THE EPIC OF GILGAMESH: THE NAÏVE HERO'S QUEST FOR IMMORTALITY by Lyrical Austrian Poet Rainer Marie Rilke (1916). A two-act play by Nick Bartenhagen was presented by Maggie and Nick Bartenhagen, Crow Lowry and Ted Trainer. The script derives from this ancient epic, deeply rooted in the fertile soil of Mesopotamian myth, offering us a deeper meaning for being alive and being here today. Finally accepting the inevitability of death, Gilgamesh learns that the true meaning of life can only be found in the present, among our companions.

Upcoming at First Parish

Our “All-Church Birthday” Party returns this Sunday in person! It will take place right after the church service

Sunday, Jan. 29, at 11 a.m. Tables will be set up by seasons rather than months, so you will have fun learning who was born the same month, season, or day as you! This is an all-ages fun event, so be sure to bring your children.

Questions? Contact Linda or Jim Thompson, 207-502-7796.

New Men's group launching soon.

Our new men's group will begin to meet soon. It is being formed in answer to the overwhelming response recently received from many church members and others. In an effort to meet everyone's goals and personal aspirations, a questionnaire was designed and then emailed to all interested individuals on Sunday, January 15th. The questionnaire (it's not too late to answer) includes the following:

- How often would you suggest we meet?
- Where should we meet, including the venue?
- Do you prefer "In person" or by "zoom" meetings?
- What day(s) and time of day work for you?
- Is there any day(s) you cannot meet?
- Do you prefer a shared or rotating leadership?
- Should we combine joint activities?
- Any additional thoughts or suggestions that you would like to add?

If you have not indicated your interest before, but would like to now, please email Mark Gallup at grouchomg@gmail.com to obtain a questionnaire at your earliest opportunity.

Thank You on behalf of your organizing group:

Mark Gallup, Abraham Brody, Bob Wuerthner, Jim Thompson

Are you a team player?

2 opportunities are available!

Having decided that it is not a very good idea for people over four-score years to shovel snow, the Properties Committee is forming a new Snow Team to shovel snow off the steps and ramp leading into the church. Properties needs four volunteers. Please contact Barbara Conner (207) 229-0799, and she will work out a plan with you.

Advantages:

- This is a great way to work off holiday excess of all kinds!
- We believe in equal opportunity; everyone is welcome to participate.
- New way to explore leverage.
- Great opportunity for air guitar jamming on shovels.
- FPUU supplies the shovels and a snow blower.
- Much appreciation to be showered on you!

Our Membership Committee, under the direction of Linda and Jim Thompson, has organized a new way to offer coffee hour after church services on Sundays. They have designated 12 church members/friends to facilitate the effort by forming teams, which will go into action during the upcoming months. Each team should include three people, including at least one person who is relatively new to the church. So, when your telephone rings or your email beeps or if one of our coffee dozens meets you in person to invite you to participate, please respond with "Yes."

Or even better, call or email Linda or Jim to volunteer.
lindabear33@aol.com, jethompson33@aol.com

The coffee hosting has been simplified, to make it easy for all. Making coffee and tea, setting up a few tables and chairs, and doing up the dishes are all that is needed. Instructions are posted in the kitchen. Then, you are done for quite a while, as others take over during the following weeks.

BEWARE!

The time of snow and ice is here! Sometimes the parking lot is slippery...If you are able, please park farther away in the parking lot and leave the closer spaces for those who are older or mobility impaired. Thanks so much!
