Weekly Updates

Happy New Year

"Welcome 2021! We and our church are starting a new year. Our sense of community is held together by more than physical proximity, but it is indeed tested by the physical distance we must maintain to be safe. So, what is one thing each of us can quietly do this week to bridge that distance?" Just one thing."

NEW FUNDRAISER FOR FIRST PARISH CHURCH

Our goal is to raise $500.00 for the church

Helen Rousseau has just published a new book of poetry called, Poems for a World on Fire: Meditations on Hope. Her poems are about all the major issues we are facing today in our world: never-ending wars, global warming, loss of animal habitat, the novel coronavirus and more. This is a timely book in its subject matter. But it's also a book about hope, about our place in the world, and about the possibilities of us uniting as a people for change.

For the fundraiser, we are selling the book for $20.00, of which the church will receive $10 for each book, two-thirds of the actual profit. To purchase a book please email Crystal at uukennebunkoffice@gmail.com to sign up. Books will be available for pick up at FPUU the week of January 18th during Crystal's usual office hours of Wed-Fri 9:00 to 12:00.

This is a great way to help raise money for the church and read a great book written by one of our own members. Please take the time to look at www.helenrousseau.com to learn more about the book and to read some poems. Our goal is to sell at least 50 books and make a profit of $500.00.

We Need Tech Associates!

Here is an opportunity to join those silent, behind-the-scenes worship service folks who keep the service visible on your screen via Zoom tools. Your only qualifications are a dependable Internet connection and a passion to learn more about Zoom and help with the service. All training provided! You'll apprentice and observe before being asked to do the job on your own, and you are always part of a supportive environment with others during the service.

Contact any of the team members if you would be willing to help us out and be part of the team.
Regards, Bruce Childress, Chris Wells, Patrick Connor, and Hervé Lavoie, Rev. Lara Campbell

2021-Year Stewardship Pledging Campaign

This is a gentle reminder for those interested friends, news followers, and members to send in your monetary pledge cards. We started a campaign two weeks ago for year-2021 pledging campaign as part of the stewardship support of our mission and community. Pledge cards are streaming in nicely to date and we need to keep up the momentum going forward to complete by December 15. This is so the Finance Team can prepare our next year budget to be approved via the Board and voted at the congregational semi-annual meeting on January 31, 2021.

If you are experiencing missing pledge cards, sending or delivering issues, please email Barbara Boscia at uukennebunkbookkeeper@gmail.com . You may also email or call Crystal at uukennebunkoffice@gmail.com or 207-985-3700 for help. Thank you so much for your generous commitments.

Hervé, Treasurer representing the appreciation from the Board of Directors

Monthly Updates from Our Committees

Share the Offering for the Month of January Community Outreach Services

For the month of January our church Share the Offering will go to Community Outreach Services (COS). For 30 years COS has been in the forefront helping our neighbors in need in Kennebunk, Kennebunkport and Arundel. The COVID-19 pandemic and resulting economic problems have made helping one another more important than ever, especially as the cold weather closes in. Your generous donations will provide needed food, heating fuel and much more to our neighbors in the winter ahead. Thank you! For more information talk to Kathe Wright.

Choir Notes

Contributed by Ginny Lawrence, choir member with Molly Petrik, choir director – UU Kennebunk

We now enter January when we celebrate Martin Luther King Day - established as a federal holiday in 1986. At UU Kennebunk our celebration has gained large community attendance where we join to celebrate.

Dr King is a figurehead of the African American experience - with all the tragedies of repression and racism. The events that have led to the emergency in 2020 of the Black Lives Matter slogan is yet a new reminder of the work that must be done to uplift and honor our black citizens.

One area that African American and Black lives have influenced our United States is through music. And it is interesting to consider and understand some musical distinctions - first the spiritual song that then led to gospel music.

African American spirituals were originally an oral song tradition that drew on Christian values as well as describing the hardships of slavery and yearning for freedom.

African American spirituals that we find in our own Unitarian hymnal include amongst others - "This Little Light of Mine"; "I'm On My Way..to the Freedom Land"; "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen" and also the Christmas song - "Go Tell it On the Mountain".

African American spiritual songs were not simply different versions of Christian hymns but also a creative altering of the material imbuing stylistic differences that came to set apart the music as distinctly African American.

These differences include a polyphonic music style where two or more simultaneous melodic lines are perceived as independent even though they are related. Also call and response patterns, wandering refrains and choruses and also complex polyrhythmic clapped responses.

While spirituals were eventually collected and written down, by musicians trained in music notation, it was noted by these transcribers that the intricacies and stylistic details were often nearly impossible to put into written music notation.

Christian spirituals reference symbolic aspects of biblical images such as the exodus of the Israelites from Egypt led by Moses. Such did resonate with the early American slave. Our own hymnal includes “When Israel was in Egypt’s Land - Let my people go”.

As African Americans moved out of slavery and formed their own churches, in and about the 1930’s there evolved the more structured musical format that has come to be known as Gospel - sung in a choir often with piano and instrumental accompaniment - often with four-part harmony.

This quote from an unknown source gives description:

“There are few things more powerful than being in the presence of a Black gospel choir, it’s lead singer clapping and moving in rhythm testifying to the power of God. There are moments when the choirs and the preachers who follow can lift and transport an entire congregation. To fill the despairing with hope and the fearful with the courage to demand justice”. 1.

And so in this month of honor to Martin Luther King and our African American citizens the music contribution of the spiritual and subsequent Gospel songs are a blessing to us all.

The information provided here is a paraphrasing in my own words from readings. Also thanks to Molly Petrik our music director for her editing contributions and important consideration of the issue of attribution. (see below)

Readings are from Wikipedia and the library of congress include:

An important topic to keep in mind as we consider African American Music is written here by Molly Petrik, our Kennebunk UU choir director:

In recent years, the concept of cultural appropriation has been widely debated and discussed. When a choir made up of mostly White singers, sings songs from cultural traditions other than their own it is necessary for the director and singers to grapple with the concepts of appropriation.

Through reading and discussions, as choir director I have come to an understanding that cultural appropriation is not a term with necessarily negative connotations. But there are both disrespectful and respectful forms of appropriation. Respectful appropriation includes studying the culture from which a piece of music arises, striving to understand the historical or personal context in which it was created, striving to 'get right' details such as dialect and pronunciation, and choosing arrangements that highlight the emotional content and context of the music.

The Second Parish Meeting House

THE SECOND PARISH MEETING HOUSE

SHORTLY before the War of Independence, the Second Parish Meeting House at Kennebunk Landing was abandoned and a larger one erected in the growing western portion of the town. It was provided with a gallery, an entrance porch at the side and high pulpit opposite. This building served the wants of the community until after the beginning of the nineteenth century. Every family of the parish was assessed for its maintenance, whether or not they attended its services.

Rev. Daniel Little, pastor of the parish from its organization until the year 1801, and a personage of unusual worth and vigor, served it at both the Kennebunk Landing and Village churches. This community was a thriving as well as a generous one. That it was generous we may judge by its record of a donation to the town of Boston of £66 5s 6d after a disastrous conflagration there in 1760. And that it was thriving is shown by the fact of eighteen weddings in the parish in the year 1783.

The Reverend Mr. Little was a missionary to the eastern Indians, and he also made journeys into the eastern precincts of the District of Maine to induce and organize Religious Parishes, and preached the Word there in barns and other like places.

The State of Massachusetts granted him aid to experiment in the manufacture of steel. A location in this town is yet shown where the fine sand he used for its moulding was obtained.

The large church building here was at first destitute of chimneys, for chimneys were not one of the inheritances from Puritanical times. Not a few of the church pews were square; they had hinged seats around and chairs within. Children sat with their backs towards the minister, who wore a wig, gown and band.

At the rear of the church gallery sittings were reserved for colored bond servants or the descendants of such, of whom there were a few hereabouts.

SHARE THE OFFERING

Share the Offering has been enhanced by your Social Justice Committee and approved by your Board of Directors. This new and more consistent approach will enable us to actively express our Unitarian Universalist values, while reaching out to a larger community.

-HOW WILL THIS WORK? Each month a different and approved non-profit organization will receive one half of our regular Sunday cash collection.

-WILL WE SHARE EVERY SUNDAY FOR THE FULL MONTH? Yes, except that July & August will be combined to allow for summer time’s lower attendance.

-WHY COLLECT EVERY SUNDAY? We recognize that not everyone can be in church each and every Sunday or may not have their extra funds on hand. NOTE: Due to the Pandemic’s effect on gatherings/social distances, we “currently” cannot rely on personal Sunday collections, although we hope & trust to return to this approach sometime soon.

-WHAT IS CURRENTLY THE BEST WAY TO CONTRIBUTE? You may mail your check payable to FPUU indicating in the check’s memo section “Share the Offering”. Another option is to log into website www.UUKennebunk.org and select “Plate Offering”, which allow you to contribute using your credit card.

-WHERE DOES MY PERSONAL FPUU PLEDGE FIT IN?

Your Pledge will continue to be allocated only toward those budgeted programs and expenses which FPUU membership previously approved.

HOW DO I RECOMMEND A NON-PROFIT AS A RECIPIENT? Please contact Crystal (uukennebunkoffice@gmail.com) to receive an application. All Completed applications should be sent to back to Crystal. FMI please contact Eva Downs; she will be happy to work with you and answer any questions.
